Ruth Staggs Kills Self With Poison on Bank of Creek

Swallows Strychnine— Is Found By Negro Couple

SUICIDE — CORONER

Funeral Is Held at 3 o'Clock Thursday Afternoon

Miss Ruth Elmore Staggs, 31, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Staggs, committed suicide Wednesday by taking a dose of strychnine near her home on the Potosi road three miles south of Hope.

A note and a can that had contained strychnine were found on a creek bank near the home. Contents of the note read, "When you find this note you will wonder why."

She had been suffering from melancholia caused by ill health about two years, and for the past two weeks had suffered from a severe cold.

Dr. J. H. Weaver, Hempstead county coroner, issued the following statement: "Ruth Elmore Staggs came to her death as the result of a poisonous dose of strychnine, self-administered." No estimate was given as to the amount taken, and an inquest was held unnecessary.

The poison was apparently taken on the creek-bank near the Staggs home, where the attention of two negroes working in a nearby field was attracted by Miss Staggs' call for help. The negro man and woman rushed her to the house, but she died enroute. A physician was called but she was dead when he arrived.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Staggs, and one sister, Mrs. Betty Jane Foster.

Funeral services will be held at the Herndon-Cornelius Funeral Home Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock with burial in Macedonia cemetery south of Hope.

Burke Frequent Critic Within Ranks of Democrats

LED COURT FIGHT

Nebraskan Headed Fight That Stopped Court-Packing

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Edward R. Burke (D. Neb.) announced here Thursday he would bolt the Democratic party ranks and would support Wendell Willkie, Republican, for the presidency.

The senator wrote Willkie he was "certain that a host" of Democrats would support the Republican nominee.

Senator Burke, Nebraska Democrat, has been an outstanding critic of New Deal policies within the ranks of the party.

He led and won the fight in congress against President Roosevelt's attempt to increase the size of the United States Supreme Court.

Japan Girds for South Seas Grab

Army Cabinet Is Com- pleted by Premier Konoye

TOKIO —(AP)— Premier-designate Prince Konoye Wednesday completed his choice of a strong pro-expansionist inner government circle to back his military-dictated policies for a new East Asia—possibly a "march to the South seas."

Yosuke Matsuoka, an ardent expansionist and strong supporter of the prince's plan for totalitarian one-party rule, accepted Hachiro Arida's place as foreign minister. Lieut. Gen. Eiki Tojo, military aviation expert and preparedness advocate, was named minister of war, succeeding Gen. Shunroku Hata.

Further strengthening army-navy power in the cabinet, the navy's choice, Zengo Yoshida, was retained as secretary of the navy.

These three and Prince Konoye will map Japan's new national and international policies first, then fill out the rest of the cabinet to fit the "new situation." That situation, it seemed certain, would pivot about the South Sea holdings of European powers. It was there, army circle have said, that Japan's future field of action lies.

The premier, designated to form a new government after collapse July 16 of the cabinet of Premier Admiral Yonai, picked his top men from the ranks of those who view a mightier Japan, removal of Premier Yonai and Minister Arida took out of the government the two strong advocates of non-commitment with Germany and Italy and of a careful course regarding interests of Western powers.

Distiller Turns State's Evidence

Humphreys Tells Jury Payoff Was $2,500 a Month

FORT SMITH —(AP)— Turning government witness, Henry Humphreys, Memphis attorney and one of 10 defendants to a liquor conspiracy charge, testified in federal court here Thursday that the question, "What was the state going to get?" was one of the first raised when Southwestern Distilled Products, Inc., prepared to open the branch at Sulphur Springs, Ark., near the borders of dry Oklahoma, and Kansas.

Humphreys, a director of the company, said he later was informed that Joseph House, Little Rock, Ark., who is also on trial on the conspiracy charge, "would handle the State Revenue Department the government, and everything for $2,500 a month."

The witness said the original discussion in which the question was raised took place in House's office.

FORT SMITH —(AP)— Attempting to show that Southwestern Distilled Products, Inc., operated in Arkansas as a wholesale liquor house, the government presented the firm's operating records Wednesday to a federal jury trying state Revenue Commission Z. M. McCarroll and three others on liquor conspiracy charges.

The government charges that the state Revenue Department classified Southwestern as a rectifier and collected a smaller gallonage tax than that applying to wholesale. Records of 1939 operations were offered in evidence through Albert L. Durkin of Kansas City, Alcohol Tax Unit supervisor.

Mr. Durkin testified that the company had obtained a wholesale deal permit from the government in addition to rectifying license.

On trial with Mr. McCarroll on charges of conspiring with the company to transport liquor into dry Oklahoma and Kansas are Deputy Revenue Commissioner Butler Toland; Joseph W. House, Little Rock attorney, and Dave Sherman, manager of a Little Rock wholesale liquor firm.

Wharton on Stand

J. Hugh Wharton of Little Rock, who was attorney for the state Revenue Department from 1937 to 1939, was placed on the stand to testify about the department's 1938 correspondence with Clyde Collins Company of West Memphis, predecessor company of Southwestern Distilled Products, Inc.

Through him, the government sought to show that complaints concerning the operation of the concern were of record in the Revenue Department before the alleged conspiracy of 1939 with which the defendants are charged.

Mr. Wharton was used to tell the jury that Mr. House had been an attorney for the Arkansas Wholesale Liquor Dealers Association before he represented Southwestern in a legal capacity in 1939, and that Mr. House had written the revenue commissioner on May 14, 1938, complaining on behalf of the wholesalers association that the Collins Company was "flagrantly violating" state liquor regulations by selling to individuals and "evading taxation" by these operations, described as "unfair competition with other wholesalers."

Mr. Wharton said Mr. McCarroll previously had investigated the company, "including reported sales to"

NAZIS LAY PLANS

Put Troops on Channel Island Near England

By the Associated Press

With German bombs falling only 30 miles away, Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons Thursday that Britain's own "life and death struggle" compelled yielding to Japanese demands for the closing of the Burma road, life-line of supplies to China.

The prime minister simultaneously offered the empire's services as policeman to end the three-year-old Chinese-Japanese war.

Churchill also said the projected mass exodus of British children to the United States and British dominions is "most undesirable."

Critical as Britain's days are, he said he did not believe the military situation required a "movement of such dimensions."

Nazi warplanes explosively shattered the one-day lull in bombing assaults on the British isles, subjecting the kingdom to machine-gun attacks on villages, dive-bombing raids on steamers, and widespread raids from Wales to the English Channel.

Nazis Prepare Attack

BERLIN —(AP)— Germany, broadening its front line for the threatened invasion of England, announced Thursday it has landed forces on the French island of Ouessant, in the Atlantic off the jutting coast of Brittany, 120 miles south of Land's End, England.

The island commands the southern entrance to the English Channel, and is the westernmost territory of France proper.

Gibraltar Attacked

GIBRALTAR —(AP)— Three civilians were killed and several injured in a bomb raid early Thursday—the first casualties of the war at this British base.

The pre-dawn raiders were caught in searchlight beams and were met by a heavy anti-aircraft fire.

Chilean Envoy on Way Out of Spain

Follows Severance of Relations by Span- ish Dictator

SANTIAGO, Chile. —(AP)— Chile's Popular Front government instructed its chargé d'affaires, German Vergara, and his staff in Madrid Wednesday night to leave for home following severance of diplomatic relations in a dispute arising from Spain's civil war.

Foreign Relations Minister Cristobal Saenz reported the rupture to the Chilean cabinet which met Wednesday to discuss internal problems, including an alleged anti-government conspiracy supposedly with "Rightists."

Chilean-Spanish relations had been strained since Chile's refusal to surrender a group of Spanish Republican refugees harbored in the Chilean embassy in Madrid.

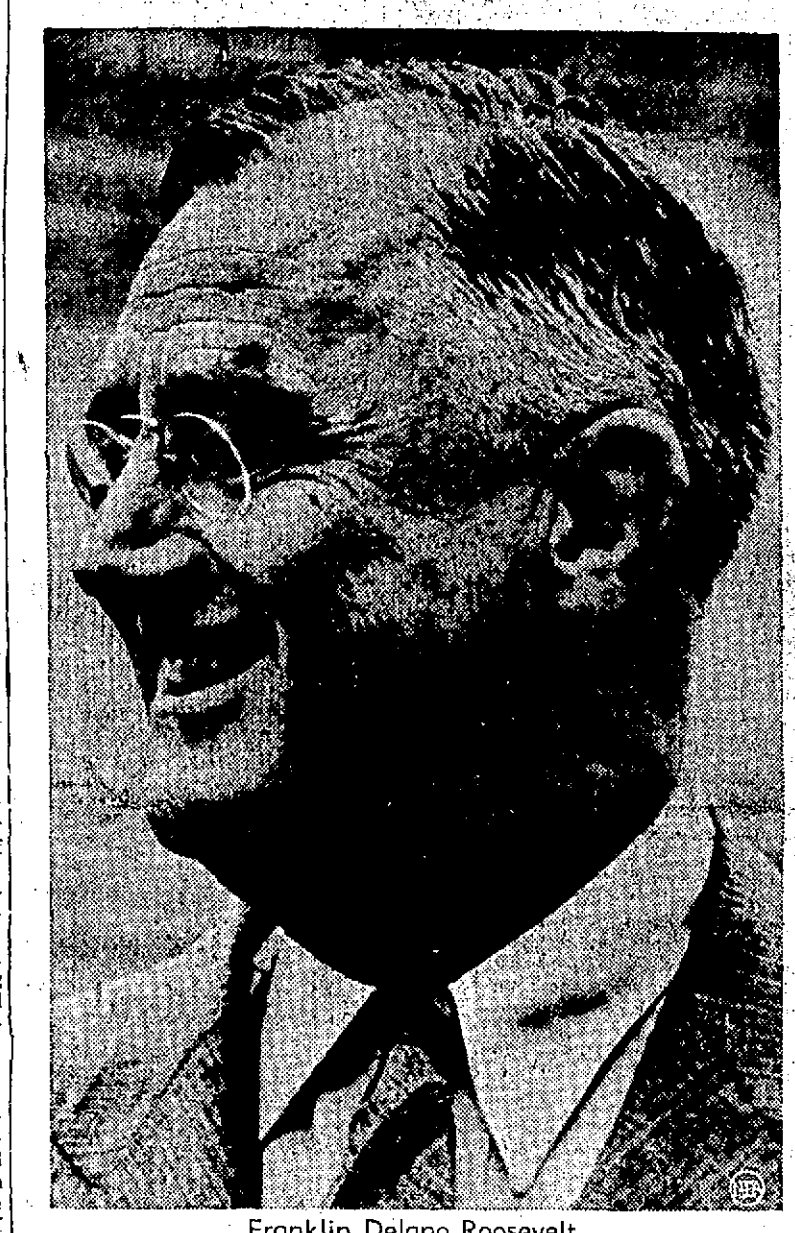

In Madrid, the Spanish government declared the break was made because Chile was "protecting and aiding Red elements who fled from Spain," and that Spanish protests met with "only hostile evasions."

The Chilean government, it said, is "supporting all campaigns of impudences, injuries and grossnesses in the press against our nation and institutions."

It charged that orators "gravely insulted" the Chilean people.

F. D., Renominated at Chicago, Puts Iowan in V. P. Post

Hull and Byrnes Refuse to Consider the Office

F. D. IS TO SPEAK

Scheduled to Accept Renomination Thurs- day Night

CHICAGO —(AP)— Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, one-time Republican emerged Thursday as President Roosevelt's choice for the vice presidential nomination.

"It's Wallace" was the shout Senator Pepper (Iowa) tossed to newsmen as he left the hotel room of Secretary of Commerce Hopkins.

Both Hopkins and Senator Byrnes, chairman of the convention nomination committee, had been in contact with the White House by telephone.

Byrnes, it was reported, firmly eliminated himself from the vice presidential picture. Secretary of State Hull, generally reported to have been the White House first choice, also refused flatly to be considered.

Roosevelt's managers were said not to be disturbed by the fact that Wallace formerly was a Republican, although this question was reported to have been discussed in conferences preceding the final decision.

Wallace, Iowan, has served in Roosevelt's cabinet since the beginning of the New Deal, and has had charge of the huge crop-control and benefit payment programs.

May Speak Thursday Night

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt probably will accept the Democratic convention's nomination to a third term in a radio address Thursday night, but the White House said Thursday he is still reserving his decision until he receives official notification of the convention's action.

It was reported in Chicago he will address the delegates at 8 p. m.

Roosevelt Nominated

CHICAGO STADIUM —(AP)— The Democratic national convention nominated President Roosevelt Wednesday night for a third term campaign. It took this action despite—or because of—a statement from the executive which said he had "no desire or purpose" to run again, but did not state whether he would accept renomination.

None of Mr. Roosevelt's leading representatives here entertained the slightest doubt that he would be the 1940 standard-bearer.

A report, given some credence, had it that the president would address the convention by telephone or radio from Washington Thursday night. Obviously, the situation called for some word from him. His friends said he would not come to Chicago.

The nomination, voted a full day ahead of schedule, followed convention sessions which saw many speakers, from the very start, delivering what were virtually nominating speeches for the executive.

It all reached its first climax Tuesday night, when—after the president's message that he was not a "candidate"—had been relayed to the delegates by Senator Alben Barkley, the convention saw a roaring 50-minute demonstration whose dominant theme was the repeated outcry: "We want Roosevelt."

Wheeler Sardoult

Earlier Wednesday night Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana had finally withdrawn from the presidential race. It would "serve no useful purpose," he said, "to be placed in nomination."

Speaking in a more than faintly sarcastic tone, he said:

Little Rock Loses to Memphis 9-6

Travelers Used Five Pitchers During the Game

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Little Rock was never trying to catch up Wednesday night, never quite succeeding, so Memphis squared the series by winning the final game, 9 to 6.

Five Little Rock pitchers paraded during the long evening, and none escaped being hit for at least one of the 13 hits. Wilfred Lefebvre, the left-hander who started was charged with the loss after yielding four hits and a walk in the one-third of an inning he worked.

Tom Simmons, a newcomer, Cotton Steele, Fred Shaffer and Jim Prendergast followed and only Steele was at all effective.

The Chicks showed Wimpy Willis and Harry Matuzaka, who together yielded nine hits. Twice the Travelers seemed on the verge of tying the score, with Tony Lupien leading the attack, but they just couldn't quite make it. Lupien got a pair of singles, a double and a walk for a perfect night.

The Travelers open a series with the Atlanta Crackers in Little Rock Thursday night.

Armstrong Floors Jenkins in the 7th

Lightweight Champion Hits Canvas Six Times

NEW YORK. — (P) — Henry Armstrong, floorer of Champion Lew Jenkins, six times between the fourth and sixth rounds Wednesday night and defeated the lightweight champion by a technical knock-out when Jenkins was unable to answer the bell for the seventh round.

Armstrong weighed 139, Jenkins 135 1-2. For three rounds Armstrong waded in and took a good sound licking. Then he found the range. He battered the lightweight title holder through the next three heats and hurt him so badly that the Texas thin man just couldn't make it for the seventh. He slumped to his knees in his own corner 10 seconds before the bell rang opening the seventh round. The State Athletic Commission ruled it a six-round technical knockout for the Negro.

SERIAL STORY FLYING CO-ED

BY MARY KINNAVEY MOORE

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Georgette returns from the field, finds Anne's note. Georgette asks Dick to fly her to North Point. Meanwhile Anne is having some doubts about rushing into the marriage, but she is too far to her promise. Within an hour she will be Mrs. Tony Scott.

CHAPTER IV

AT North Point airport, Dick Douglas helped Georgette from the plane that had brought them from Midland University.

"Dick, do you think we're in time?"

"I hope so. Be a shame to waste all this effort."

She looked around her. "Will we be able to find a cab?"

"Maybe. Never can tell about these small-town airports. We might borrow a car if we need to."

Luckily, however, a taxi stood near the airport office. Dick told the driver to take them to the marriage bureau, adding, "Don't linger on the way, either. We're in a hurry."

The driver grinned over his shoulder at them as he started his motor. "Don't you want to stop on the way and buy the girl some flowers?"

Georgette giggled, despite her anxiety. "Dick, he thinks we're eloping!" Her face grew serious again. "Oh, Dick, if we aren't in time, what on earth will we do?"

He lit a cigarette, tossing the match out the window. "There are such things as quiet announcements, you know."

"You don't know Tony Scott," the girl told him earnestly. "No quiet announcement for him!"

"Really has his heart set on Miss Norris, has he?" Dick asked casually. "Maybe we ought not to interfere."

"Dick, I don't think he cares a snap of his finger about Anne."

"Then why drag her off to North Point for a runaway marriage? Georgette, I always thought you had good sense, but—"

"He doesn't love her," Georgette insisted, interrupting him. "This Tony person—well, he has money, great gobs of it. His father is a racketeer, or something, practically a gangster—race tracks, roadhouses, gambling. You know what I mean. Tony doesn't care anything about Anne's wealth, but he does care a lot about her—well, social position."

"Well, you are certainly penalizing him because he picked the wrong father," Dick continued to tease.

"Oh, it is more than that," Georgette defended herself. "I wouldn't be so bad if Tony were a decent sort himself. But he is simply awful. His good manners are so overdone, so insincere. His good looks are kind of oily, and he makes my flesh creep."

Dick laughed at her vehemence, but went on. "And still your Anne has fallen for him!"

"She doesn't realize what she is doing," was the heated response. "Tony's new and different, reckless and exciting. That's all. I know the only reason she ran away was because she was so mad. He urged her on and probably dared her."

She glanced ahead through the windows of the cab. "We've got to be on time. We've got to!"

The marriage license bureau was at the end of a long hall. "If they've already been here," Georgette said, "we'll try and catch up with them before they get to a justice."

The opening of the door ahead interrupted her. Anne came into the hall, her face very pale against the soft fur of her coat collar. At the sight of Georgette and Dick, she stopped suddenly, one hand pressed against her cheek.

Tony appeared just behind her, his look triumphant. For a moment, he failed to notice the couple who were coming down the hall, his whole attention focused on a paper he was folding carefully.

Georgette recognized the paper instinctively. It was, it must be, the marriage license.

She moved quickly, and before Tony realized her intention or could stop her, she had snatched the license from his hands and torn it into small pieces. He stared at her for an instant, startled. In that moment, his self-imposed air of breeding slipped from him.

"You interfering, dirty little snob!" He clenched his fist and struck at her. "I'll show you—"

Dick grabbed the upraised arm. In a second, Tony checked himself, but it was too late. He would have given anything he owned to take back that brief, revealing moment. He caught his breath sharply, tried to undo the damage.

"Oh, Miss Parker," his tone was unctuous. "I forgot myself, I'm sorry."

As he paused, he realized that Georgette was paying no attention to him. She had her arms about Anne and was pleading desperately with her friend.

"Anne, Anne, you can't do this. Please."

ANNE stood as if dazed, motionless. In that instant of Tony's uncontrolled rage, she had learned what she had felt instinctively all along. She had been on the brink of making the most hideous mistake of her entire life. If Georgette and Captain Douglas had arrived a few minutes later, she would have been married to Tony Scott.

Now, since that moment in which the mask had slipped from the man she had been about to marry, her only desire was to get as far away from him as possible. Yet, that other side of her nature, her stubborn pride, insisted that she go ahead with her original plans—if only to show how little she cared for the influence of others.

But it was Tony who saved the day for her. His native shrewdness and cunning had conquered his rage, and he felt that to give in now would be to gain a victory later. One wrong move and Anne would be lost to him forever.

"Anne dear, these people may be right. We don't want to be married this way, do we, Sweetheart. Not as though we were—running away—"

She smiled at him and the color came back into her face.

"You're right, Tony. We'll wait."

That was when Dick stepped up and, managing a smile, said—"If you're going back to Midland, Miss, we'll be glad to give you a ride."

A FEW minutes later Anne found herself on the way to the airport with Georgette and Dick. She was still breathless and a little confused, as though in some unaccountable way she had escaped from an unknown danger. Through the haze that surrounded her, she was aware of the light on Dick Douglas' lean face as his cupped hands held at match to his cigarette, and of his voice speaking to her.

"Too bad you hadn't the nerve enough to take the flying course, Miss Norris."

The haze seemed to melt magically. "I beg your pardon," she said coldly.

"You heard what I said," the pilot replied easily. "I said it was too bad you lost your nerve about learning to fly."

She had never—no, never—been so furious in her life.

"So that's what you think, is it?" She was amazed at the intensity of her own voice. Well, I'll show you. I'll just take your flying course—and complete it—just to show you that you're not the only one with nerve."

Estel Chamberlain Is Honored by Train-Station

LEWISVILLE — Estel H. Chamberlain, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Chamberlain of Lewisville, has been selected as Honor Man of his company by his instructors at the Naval Training Station, San Diego, Calif., for the week ending June 29, 1940.

Chamberlain enlisted in the Navy at the Navy Recruiting Station in San Diego, on May 23, 1940. Since that time he has been learning the necessary qualifications to fit himself for a career as a man-of-war man.

At this station it is the custom to select every week the one man of each company of one hundred and twenty-seven recruits among whom he has shown by his outstanding ability, that he is worthy of this special designation.

Week-End Crowd Sure to Enjoy Iced Coffee Nog

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX,
NEA Service Staff Writer
Brand-new combination of coffee ice cream and fresh coffee is something to plan for the week-end crowd. And a crock full of honey drop cookies will make your job of summer hostess equally pleasant.

Recipe: Coffee Nog
(Eight servings)
Frozen mixture: 1/2 cup dark brown sugar, 1/2 cup packed 1/2 cup freshly made double-strength coffee, 2 egg yolks, beaten; 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 tablespoon non-alcoholic rum flavoring, 2 egg whites, 1 cup heavy cream, whipped.

Combine sugar and the 1/2 cup of freshly made double-strength coffee in top of double boiler; place over direct heat and stir until sugar is dissolved and mixture boils. Pour slowly into the beaten egg yolks, stirring constantly. Cook over boiling water until thickened. Remove from heat, add whites until stiff and fold into the mixture with the whipped cream. Pour into tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze until firm. Stir once during freezing.

To serve: Pour regular-strength coffee (chilled), or double-strength coffee (hot) over cracked ice in tall glasses; put a large spoon full of the frozen mixture on top.

Honey Drop Cookies

(Seven and one-half dozen)
Three cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 cup packed almonds, 1/2 cup chopped citron, 1/2 cup shortening, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 cup honey, 2 egg yolks, well beaten; 1 teaspoon vanilla.
Mix and sift 3 cups of flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Stir in almonds and vanilla, gradually stir in flour-nut-fruit mixture. Bake a sample cookie to determine effect of honey on mixture. Some honey causes more spreading than others. Add more flour if necessary. Drop batter from teaspoon on greased baking sheet and bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) for about 10 minutes. (Substitute pecans for almonds, if desired.)

Ready-Made Alibi For Late Arrivals

KANKAKEE, Ill.—(AP)—You've got to carry a couple of watches to keep in time in Kankakee.

The city council voted down an ordinance legalizing daylight time, so most merchants and professional men set up their own. One hotel went on daylight time, but its bar remained on standard time to get an extra hour before closing.

The city engineer carries two watches—one (daylight) for schedules of WPA employees, the other (standard) for city street workers. It's all very confusing.

Our Civil Body Politick

The United States of America, in the midst of a world confused and chaotic, is about to begin democratically choosing its leadership for the next four years.

It is July, and the actual voting will not take place until November. But while it is July, let us go back 320 years into another world.

We are in Leyden, Holland. Out of the harbor two little ships, scarcely bigger than the giant air clippers of today, are painfully working their way to sea. They are named Spierdewell and Mayflower. Several hundred people are aboard, crowded and crudely provided for.

So slow is travel that it will not be until September that the Mayflower, which alone proved seaworthy, will leave Plymouth. Then it will be a full two months before the wretched little ship sights Cape Cod.

Sailing thus, of course, are the Pilgrims, refugees from oppression and intolerance, seeking a new home in a new land.

These are orderly people, stern and self-disciplined. They meet in the crowded cabin of the Mayflower to decide how they shall govern themselves when they have come ashore. Deliberately and calmly they set up their own governing machinery; voluntarily and in full faith together, they compact as the pen scratches on:

"We . . . Do by these Presents, solemnly and mutually in the Presence of God and one another, covenant and combine ourselves together into a civil Body Politick, for our better Ordering, Inking and Preservation. . . And by Virtue hereof do enact, constitute, and frame, such just and equal Laws, Ordinances, and Offices, from time to time, as shall be, thought most meet and convenient for the general good of the Colony; unto which we promise all due Submission and Obedience."

Three hundred and twenty years dissolve, and now we again set ourselves to the task of doing for 140,000 people that these Pilgrims did for a few hundred. We too, are about to choose "for our better ordering and preservation" those who shall enact and enforce "such just and equal laws" as we today believe are for the good of all of us.

Our task is on a greater scale, but who can say it is more difficult? For them, the rocky coast, the bitter cold, the hostile Indians.

For us, the riddle of want amid plenty, the confusion of a world shaken from known foundations, the rising tide of hate.

WE THE WOMEN

No Man Really Wants a Wife "Who Clings"

By RUTH MILLETT

Men say and think that they want women who are clinging vines. What they really want is a woman who appears to be a clinging vine—but who can be counted on to stand like a sturdy oak when the times are stormy.

The wife who is a real clinging vine uses all her husband's strength for herself when trouble comes. Few men have enough strength for two.

The real clinging vine, instead of going out and getting a job when her husband has hard luck, or buckling down and making whatever money they have to double work, sits around feeling sorry for herself. Then her husband, with all his other troubles, has to worry about what his wife is going through.

The real clinging vine never suffers silently. Every personal trouble she has, she makes her husband help shoulder.

The real clinging vine makes her husband take the responsibility for every important decision affecting both their lives.

Hubby Gets the Dirty Work

The real clinging vine doesn't say, "Go ahead and play golf with your friends; I want to go shopping, anyhow." She says petulantly, "If you spend the afternoon playing golf, what will I do?"

The real clinging vine doesn't do her share of rearing the children. She saves all the dirty work, like spankings and lectures, for her husband. In fact she saves most of life's dirty work for him.

But don't worry, men. There are few real clinging vines among women. Most women just play at dependency in between serious times—as you intend they should.

Hadn't Time to Age

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(P)—A soldier and his 19-year-old fiancée asked Deputy Clerk Walter Albers for a marriage license, but Albers turned them down. The girl would have to have her parents' consent, he said.

A couple hours later the soldier reappeared. "What, you here again?" exclaimed Albers.

"Yes, but it's a different girl this time."

'One-Horse' City Laws

SUPERIOR, Wis.—(P)—City authorities, eager to keep Superior from being called a one-horse town, took steps at once when they discovered that policemen were governed by a manual left over from horse and buggy days.

Among instructions to policemen it listed were these: To note all cases of (fast horse) driving, prohibit brutally to animals, keep horses off of sidewalks, untangle traffic snarls caused by teams and report ailments or defects in stock and harnesses of the police department.

Nine U. S. presidents were Episcopals; six were Presbyterians, the leading denominations of that office.

Use Vinegar to Spice Up Your Summer Dishes

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer

An old American touch is just a few drops of vinegar. Used with discretion, a little vinegar gives summer foods extra piquancy.

don't tone, the senator asserted that while he had assumed Mr. Roosevelt would not be a candidate, Tuesday night's developments had changed that opinion.

Anti-Shouted Down
Chairman Barkley was about to put the question on adoption of the platform at Wednesday night's session when Elmer J. Ryan of Minnesota demanded that the convention consider an amendment putting the party on record as opposing a third term. A great roar of boos and "noes" drowned out the voice of the reading clerk as he read Ryan's proposal.

A voice vote on the amendment showed a minority for back in the hall backing the Ryan effort, but the "no" vote was a great and resounding uproar. The platform was adopted with another roar and then Barkley ordered that roll call of the states begin for nominating speeches.

The Platform
CHICAGO —(AP)—The Democratic national convention shouted quick approval Wednesday night of a 1940 platform promising not to send United States armed forces to fight in foreign lands outside the Americas, "except in case of attack." Action came after Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, Platform Committee chairman read the document amid frequent interruptions of cheering and applause.

Just before the vote, Representative Elmer J. Ryan of Minnesota offered an amendment to the platform declaring that no man shall be eligible for a third term for president. Booming out the anti-third term proposal and then the delegates shouted it down. The 4,000-word document, completed

Monroe Doctrine Causes Argument

U. S. and Germany Are Having a Battle of Wits

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Behind the Monroe Doctrine headlines you've been reading is a deliberate battle of wits between Washington and Berlin—with Washington on the offensive.

The primary aim in Washington is to bring stringently to the attention of the American public—both above and below the Rio Grande—the original Monroe Doctrine and its championship of independence for the nations of the Western Hemisphere as well as its warning to European powers to keep off.

In effect it is a certain raiser for the meeting in Havana late in July of the 21 American republics. It might even portend a mutual Monroe Doctrine for the hemisphere to supplement the purely United States doctrine pronounced by Monroe in 1823.

American state department officials have been itching for some time to get the Monroe doctrine on Page One, so to speak, in the same breath with the strange talk of Monroe Doctrines in Europe and Asia, and to show them in contrast with each other.

These officials have been ready to leap at a chance to prove Uncle Sam is on the level and devoid of all desire to set up any puppet regimes in this hemisphere.

Almost, But Not Quite
The conquest of Holland almost gave them the opening they were waiting for, but not quite. For the sovereignty of Holland is obscure, her possessions in this hemisphere small.

The conquest of France was a different story, a perfect example. For, officially at any rate, France retains her independence, even though a conquered power, and therefore has the right to keep or dispose of her possessions as she sees fit.

So the state department got busy. A round-robin note went to France, England, Germany and Italy. Those nations were fully advised that the United States would not recognize any transfers of possessions in this hemisphere, nor acquiesce in them. The Monroe Doctrine was not mentioned.

It was implied, however, that the incident at Martinique where French and British warships are playing hide and seek, is just as much in focus as, say, French Guiana.

That note was delivered in Berlin on June 18. On July 1, Berlin struck at the bait. It was Berlin that brought up the Monroe Doctrine.

Joachim von Ribbentrop, the German foreign minister said the Monroe Doctrine interpretation "implicit" in the American note would amount to conferring on some European states the right to possess territories on this side of the Atlantic, but not others.

Says Mr. Hull:
That was what the State Department was waiting for, Secretary Hull did not even reply to the German note. Instead, through his regular press conference he addressed himself to the American public in the United States and Latin America. Others could listen, of course, said Secretary Hull.

"The Monroe Doctrine is solely a policy of self-defense which is intended to preserve the independence and integrity of the Americans. It was, and is, designed to prevent aggression in this hemisphere on the part of any non-American power."

"It never has resembled and it does not today resemble policies which appear to be arising in other geographical areas of the world, which are alleged to be similar to the Monroe Doctrine, but which would in reality seem to be only the pretext for the carrying out of conquest by the sword."

That gave the President an opening to carry the whole theme a step further two days later. Through Secretary Steve Early he suggested to Japan and Germany, in effect, that ed after hours of bickering in the Resolutions Committee had thrown the convention off schedule, also promised that "all the material aid at our command, consistent with law and not inconsistent with the interests of our own national defense" would be extended to "the peace-loving and liberty-loving peoples wantonly attacked by ruthless aggressors."

Some of its authors said the foreign policy plank would assure a "middle of the road" course in foreign affairs and Senator Wheeler of Montana declared that if adhered to, it would thoroughly protect the United States and guarantee that there would be "no intervention" in foreign wars.

HARRISON IN HOLLYWOOD

By PAUL HARRISON, NEA Service Correspondent

While Critics Criticize, Orson Welles Does a Prodigious Amount of Work

HOLLYWOOD — Almost from the time he was born in Kenosha, Wis., on May 16, 1915, Orson Welles has been a character. It may not be true that he came into the world with a beard, or that the first words he uttered were, "I am a genius." But from the age of 5, when he took up smoking, and at 7, when he first appeared on a stage, he began to make up for the wasted years of infancy.

If the movies had been articulate have been out here making pictures in 1925. Instead, at a private school, he had to content himself with lecturing his classmates on art, writing music reviews for a newspaper, and staging and starring in a group of Shakespearean plays. After that his adventures included world wide travel and dramatic triumphs culminated by his panic-creating broadcast of a Martian invasion.

His size kept pace with his prodigious amount of work. Even when he plays a joke he is likely to dramatize it elaborately. One day, regretting an appointment he had made with a magazine interviewer and fearing it would be pretty dull, he persuaded an aviator friend to swoop low over the house that afternoon and drop a few notes. While the interviewer looked on papeyed, Welles would retrieve each bit of paper and rush to a telephone and carry on a mysterious conversation with J. Edgar Hoover in Washington. Of course the phone wasn't connected to which is about two sizes smaller than a menagerie tent. Or he may roll up his pool in wildly hued pajamas which he designs himself.

Welles a Prodigious Worker
Sometimes he smokes 85-cent cigars, but just now he's carrying six pipes, all with their stems jammed into his jacket breast pocket. He loves steak and his choice cuts sent from New York by air express. He rarely touches liquor and seems never to be ill, or even tired after writing for 24 hours at a stretch.

There may be three secretaries in his house, all frantically busy taking and typing dictation; or he may run everyone off the place and use a dictating machine. All his woman servants are called "Ingrid" and all his male employees "Alfalfa Bill."

Welles really isn't interested in anything except his work. Even when he plays a joke he is likely to dramatize it elaborately. One day, regretting an appointment he had made with a magazine interviewer and fearing it would be pretty dull, he persuaded an aviator friend to swoop low over the house that afternoon and drop a few notes. While the interviewer looked on papeyed, Welles would retrieve each bit of paper and rush to a telephone and carry on a mysterious conversation with J. Edgar Hoover in Washington. Of course the phone wasn't connected to coccy. At 18 Welles was big and mature enough to pass for 25 and to appear as a guest star in Ireland's famed Gate and Abbey Theaters. Today he is known to friends as "Monstro," although they use it as if they meant "Maestro." At his rented house near the beach, and neighboring the Shirley Temple estate, he indulges a monkish inclination by padding around barefoot and wearing a loose robe.

All Business With Welles
Anything in deference to such critical affairs, the excited magazine writer left after being pledged to utter secrecy.

Nobody was much surprised when his wife decided that her marriage was incompatible with her husband's busy career and divorced him early this year. She's an actress, too, but not one who likes to devote 24 hours a day to it. In fact, she recently eloped with Charles Lederer, a scenarist, Welles and Virginia Nicholson, a Chicago deb, had been married when they were 19 and 17. They have a daughter, now 2, who before her birth was named Christopher because Welles was certain the child would be a boy.

For a few months after he came to Hollywood, Welles occasionally got about socially, his engagements ranging from tea parties with Shirley Temple to dancing dates with Marlene Dietrich. He never goes out now, too busy. All he cares about is proving to Hollywood that he can make pictures.

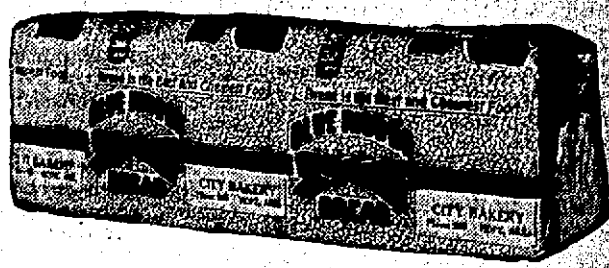

Cancer, in its early stages, is the most curable of all the major causes of death, yet kills 135,000 Americans annually.

Money Goes 'Round and Comes Out Here

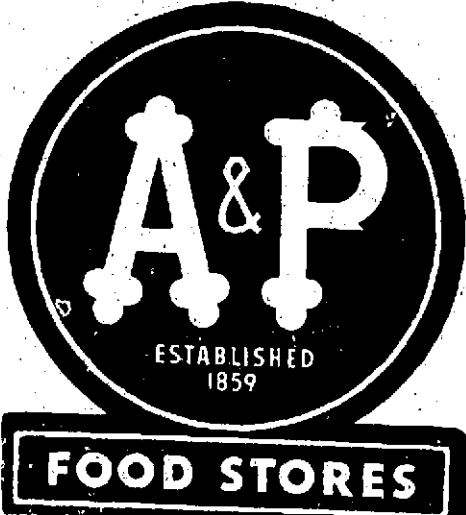

TULSA, Okla. — (AP) — Jack Geisand, clerk of municipal court, takes in money paid as fines and for bonds. In counting it, he places it in bundles. On the top bill he places a small figure indicating the amount. "Those marked bills come back time after time," he says.

Bessarabian Jews Given to Russia

Have Been Torn From Rumania After 20 Years

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

Unless all signs fail hundreds of thousands of Jews are rejoicing that the province of Bessarabia has been torn from Rumania after 20 years and restored to Russian rule.

Already many Jews in other parts of Rumania are reported to be moving into sections taken over by the Soviet.

It is just another chapter in the tangled and often tragic story of the Bessarabian ghettos. In the days before the World War, the Jews did not have a happy time.

They were petty tradesmen in the hamlets and villages. Often they kept liquor shops. In Kishinev, the capital of the province, they comprised about

Comparison of Republican and Democratic Foreign Policies

CHICAGO —(AP)— Here is a comparison of some Republican and Democratic platform statements on foreign policy.

FOREIGN WARS

REPUBLICANS: "The Republican party is firmly opposed to involving this nation in foreign war."

DEMOCRATS: "We will not participate in foreign wars, and we will not send our army, navy or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas, except in case of attack."

AID TO FOREIGN NATIONS

REPUBLICANS: "We favor the extension to all peoples fighting for liberty, or whose liberty is threatened, of such aid as shall not be in violation of international law or inconsistent with the requirements of our own national defense."

DEMOCRATS: "We pledge to extend to these liberty-loving peoples wantonly attacked all the material aid at our command, consistent with law and not inconsistent with the interests of our own national defense."

DEFENSE

REPUBLICANS: "We declare for the prompt, orderly and realistic building of our national defense to the point at which we shall be able not only to defend the United States, its possessions, and essential outposts from foreign attack, but also efficiently to uphold in war the Monroe Doctrine."

DEMOCRATS: "We favor and shall rigorously enforce and defend the Monroe Doctrine. We propose to provide America with an invincible air force, a navy strong enough to protect all our seacoasts and our national interests, and a fully-equipped and mechanized army."

CHARGE AND COUNTER-CHARGE

REPUBLICANS: "The present national administration has already spent for all purposes more than $4 billion dollars * * * and yet by the president's own admission we are still wholly unprepared to defend our country. We * * * fasten upon the New Deal full responsibility for our unpreparedness and for the consequences of involvement in war."

DEMOCRATS: "For years our president has warned the nation that organized assaults against religion, democracy and international good faith threatened our own peace and security. Men blinded by partisanship brushed aside these warnings as war-mongering and officious intermeddling. It is a tribute to the president's foresight and action that our defense forces are today at the peak of their peace-time effectiveness."

45 per cent of the population.

Czars Found Scapegoat in Jews

Whenever the government of the czars began to stir the wrath of the populace, the czars' ministers found a convenient scapegoat in the Jews. In 1903 and 1905 there were terrible pogroms in Kishinev, where an acquiescent government kept the police and the troops inactive until hundreds had been killed, thousands wounded, and much property wrecked.

In 1920, by an agreement of the allied powers, Bessarabia was given to Rumania. The Jews had even more cause to grieve than the Russians. For them it was jumping from the frying pan into the fire, more or less, for Rumania had always been pretty much an anti-Semitic state.

This dates from long back. One of the provisions when Rumania was recognized as an independent state, no longer under the thumb of Turkey, was that there should be no racial or religious discrimination.

The situation of the Bessarabian Jews has steadily worsened within the past few years with the rise of the Iron Guard, whose stand on anti-Semitism was largely that of the German Nazis who are believed to have financed the guard.

For a time King Carol suppressed this guard, and only last year there was the famous purge when its leaders, who had been imprisoned, were shot down like dogs.

The wobbly Carol, intent only on saving his throne and as much of his territory as possible, some weeks ago raised the ban on the Iron Guard, took the Nazi outfits into his government and prepared to make the laws even more anti-Semitic than did several cabinets last year and the year before.

Carol's Jewish lady friend, Magda Lupescu, did not prove herself an Esther of the Bible by trying to protect her people, nor did she mark out any Haman for the gallows.

Russia Has Biggest Jewish Population

The return of Bessarabia, following Russia's taking over a goodly portion of Poland, once more makes the land of the Soviets the European country with by all odds the biggest Jewish population.

So far, whatever the Russian peasant may demonstrate, Stalin and the top Moscow outfit have not displayed any marked anti-Semitic bias. The Jewish leaders Stalin has purged were given passes to Germany not because they were Jews, but because Stalin believed them conspirators against his regime.

Charity Donations Aid Racketeers

Swindlers Profit on Drives to Help War Sufferers

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — The nation's capital is having charity troubles . . . and the odds are a hundred to one a good many other cities are too.

It's because the racketeers are in again . . . those leeches who turn out in droves every time the United States digs in on a wholesale program of relief.

The extent of the present program although it doesn't compare with Belgium relief in the World War, is sufficient to be staggering. Under the Neutrality Act of 1939, 330 relief agencies have registered with the State department for disbursing relief funds. This does not include the Red Cross, which makes all its reports directly to the war department.

Up to about a month ago, these agencies had collected $8,396,628. Of this $8,396,628, $2,000,000 had, at last report, a little more than $2,000,000 on hand for further relief, but practically all still are active and soliciting funds to meet the increasing relief demands.

In the last few months the activity of the charity leeches has been greater than in recent years. It's doubly bad in Washington because the nation's so-called "model government" has no law to put a damper on charity racketeers. Promoters operate here "with in the law," taking possibly as much as a half-million dollars annually.

Expert investigators, both in the government and out, tell me that charity racketeers fall roughly into three groups: (1) The "within-the-law" operator, who pays a legitimate charity a small sum or percentage for use of its name and then promotes a drive or charity affair which has all the outward aspects of legitimacy.

This operator works in both the charity and racketeering fields. (2) The ticket-salesman for charity banquets, balls, picnics and bazaars (where the promoter and salesmen take an elephant's share of the proceeds); and (3) the telephone racket probably the most vicious of all.

In this last, the racketeer or a dry state bootleggers" and that the company was cited to appear before the commissioner to show cause why its license should not be revoked. He said the company, then enjoined the commissioner in court from interfering with its export business.

Mr. Wharton said that at one time "all of the exporters were howling about the company exercising privileges to which it was not entitled."

He said the company's rectifying permit was renewed July 7, 1938, for the year July 1, 1938-June 30, 1939, on condition that it would strictly follow department regulations.

insulted Spain and her glorious caudillo (General Franco) in speeches broadcast over the official radio" in the presence of the president and several ministers of the republic, at a meeting in Santiago June 17).

A high Chilean official declared that he could scarcely believe the "rude and absurd news," but said the government would "take suitable measures to meet such an unusual and incomprehensible attitude."

Sawdust Substituted for Sand in Concrete

ST. PAUL —(AP)— Concrete made with sawdust instead of sand has been developed at the University of Minnesota.

Searching for materials to give ordinary concrete the advantages of light weight, cheapness and high insulating value, the agricultural engineering division has found sawdust the most promising. L. W. Neuhauer, assistant in agricultural engineering, who supervised the tests, said that for certain uses where great strength is not demanded and where weathering is not severe, clean aspen, spruce or Norway and Jack pine sawdust make a fairly satisfactory substitute for sand and gravel.

hiring makes telephone pleas, generally under the guise of: "This is Rev. So-and-so," or "the secretary of Senator Blank." The appeal is made and a promise that the collector, bearing "absolutely authentic credentials," will pick up the contribution.

The result is that the charity gets little or nothing and the crook who preys on your big heart walks off with the dough.

If you have charity racketeers in your neighborhood, gouge'em out. The Chamber of Commerce, the police, the Better Business bureau, the county attorney's office, the postoffice inspectors (if any mail is involved), or your community chest or other organized charity officials will help.

WASHINGTON — Answering the mail orders.

Mrs. J. T. K., Indianapolis—In spite of all those stories you have read, the United States fleet still is in the far Pacific and is likely to remain there unless some drastic change occurs in Atlantic defense conditions.

G. T. Rutherford, N. J.—Your old friend and brother in the bond, Jimmy Aswell, is out for the congressional race in North Carolina, La., and it looks at this printing as though he would be around these parts soon after the first of the next year. Jimmy was one of the principal platform ramrods in the fight against the old (and defeated) Long machine. Since then the winds that drift up from the southland have been bringing me consistent reports of Jimmy's candidacy. If Jimmy comes up this way after the first of the year, guess we'll have to have a get-together and talk of the time you wrote a glowing column about what a swell guy Jimmy Aswell is and some South Carolina editor for was it Virginia got confused and ran it under a head that said "By James Aswell." They tell me Jimmy still keeps the Pullman shades down when he goes through that city.

H. M. L. Dallas, Tex. — Your query about all that gold that's stuck in a hole down in Kentucky not only has your humble correspondent guessing, but all the best economists and money theorists around here as well. I'm trying to find out, but it's beginning to look as though I'll have to get a Ph. D. a thesaurus and couple of Morgan partners on my side before I can even discuss it.

And even then I'll have to write about the column: The facts contained herein bear no resemblance to anything living or dead.

G. P. San Diego, Calif. — Based on the 1936 popular vote, Wendell L. Willkie would have to swing a little more than 5,000,000 votes that went for Roosevelt and hold the 17,000,000 votes considered Republican under any circumstances. The sideline guessers here now are saying that Mr. Willkie probably will get a lot of normally Democratic votes (being so recently a Democrat himself,) but for that very reason probably will lose some of the ordinarily die-hard Republicans. Personally, I think it's a little too

Mrs. D. C. L., Denver, Colo.—I think I can assure you that the government is not devoting ALL its time to rearmament and over-looking the possibilities of the trade war which may result when the European battles are over. My hunch is that the first big hint of how much time is being devoted to it will come out of the Pan-American conference at Havana.

Because trade wars have no roots in the hearts of the American people, our economic plans are a good deal more secret than our armament aims. Traditions have to be sly, but when it comes to putting on armor, all nations act like little boys and throw out their chests and say: "Just look how strong I am. If you touch me, I'll punch your middle clear back to your spine."
